Hecker claims he was blinded by headlights. His car was badly damaged but he received only minor injuries.

Gawley and Duprees reported the theft of 15 kitchen cabinets from a construction job at Murray and Santa Cruz Avenues.

The theft was reported as soon as discovered but the firm members say the articles were taken six weeks ago.

A car driven by Robert Patton of Menlo Park collided with one driven by Hazel Cook, also of Menlo Park, as the latter was pulling away from the curb in the 1100 block of El Camino Wednesday afternoon. Both cares were headed north and both received fender damage.

Fire Department

Six grass fires reported and put out.

WOMAN'S CLUB HOLDS SECTION MEETING

An interesting sketch of the city of Chattanooga, Tenn., from its pioneer settlement of 1836 until the present time, was given by Mrs. Elizabeth Gardner before the joint Garden and Literary sections of the Menlo Park Woman's Club on Tuesday afternoon. The modern, progressive southern city, now known as the "Dynamo of Dixie," was called Moss Landing in those early days.

Mrs. Gardner's talk opened the literary half of the two-part program, held at her home on Hoover Street. Following her instructive paper the club members enjoyed tea before Mrs. Henry Garton, Club president, called the garden section meeting to order. Members present responded to the roll call of names with appropriate garden verses, after which Mrs. J. A. Buchman gave a talk on Lilies that was followed by a general discussion of both lilies and fuchias.

The Woman's Club is holding its annual Chrysanthemum Tea on Tuesday, October 29, at the Social Hall of the Presbyterian Church on Santa Cruz Avenue. The flower show at 3 p.m. is open to the public, with a charge of 25 cents for those wishing tea. "White elephants" of various species will be on sale as well as potted plants and cut flowers. A business meeting for members preceeds the tea at 2 p.m.

RETURNS FROM VACATION

Mrs. Cliff Mott returned to her home here this week after a three weeks vacation spent in Seattle.

Propositions Discussed At Parent-Teachers Meet

"More than ten percent of the population of California is under six years of age. Five years will double the school enrollment we have now. The most important requirement in our educational needs is to get the best teachers we can get to teach our children the way they are supposed to be taught.

With admirable vehemence Superintendent of Schools, O.H. Olson, drove home to the P-TA organization at last Friday's meeting, the urgent necessity for a "YES" vote on Proposition No. 3 on the November ballot. The above statements are but few of the facts he used in his arguments for this measure which would insure a minimum salary of $2400 a year to all elementary grade teachers. Even at this salary, Olson said, school teachers would still be in the lowest salary bracket of persons who are professionally trained.

"YES" on No. 3 will provide a reorganization of the California school system, said Olson. It will provide $120 per pupil per year from the state to each school district, the number of pupils being founded on the average daily attendance. Last year Menlo Park's ADA (average daily attendance) was 400 pupils; this year we have 640 pupils. Yet the present system provides state capital founded on the previous year. We really have now only $62 per ADA from the state allotments.

In stressing the need to attract men and women of character and intelligence to the profession Olson also brought out the fact that within the next eight years 10,000 of our present teaching force would be retired, making it a vital issue for both the present teaching and the future to get new teachers into the field as soon as possible.

Visiting speaker for the day was Mr. Andrew Spinas, sperintendent of schools at Redwood City, who spoke on the propositions affecting education which will be presented to voters at the election. Passing over the important one discussed by Mr. Olson (No. 3) Spinas urged a "YES" vote on numbers 8 and 9, with no personal opinion on No. 7. In his reference to No. 8, which would require that qualifications for the office of County Superintendent be fixed by Legislation the speaker said that any one, regardless of education or training, could now occupy that office if chosen by local authorities.

Mr. Spinas hoped that No. 13 would be "unlucky" in its passage, and urged all present to vote "NO" on this proposition, which is directly opposite in its applicaiton from No. 3, as it would "fix" the State ADA funds to each school at a definite lower rate. To vote "YES" on both 3 and 13 would place us in a state of confusion from which we could only be extricated by some action of a supreme court, said Spinas.

Four teachers from Central and Fremont Schools formed a panel for the further discussion of the ballot propositions. They were Miss Clara Bolei, Mrs. Ina Porter, Mrs. Irene Lebsack and Miss Mildred Stolberg.

Mrs. J. W. Nield, program chairman, introduced Mrs. C. S. Gabert of Atherton, who spoke to the club on the creation of a Sequoia Hospital District, and Mrs. Tupper of the Canyon Tuberculosis Sanitarium, who described the need for improved health facilities in San Mateo County. Both of these issues will be presented to the voters in November.

Mrs. Wallace Ott, P-TA chairman, presided at the business meeting, with Mrs. Paul Hanson acting secretary. Among various reports and announcements given, were the dates of November 22 and 23 for the P-TA Annual Rummage Sale and Rag Drive. Eighth grade Room Mothers were hostesses for the day, with Mrs. J. S. Tannahill and Mrs. Loren Gilbert in charge of the refreshments.

Flood Park Pool Closes For This Year

On Sunday, October 13, Flood Park swimming pool was opened for the last time in 1946. The announcement comes from Walter Sjosten, Assistant Sperintendent of the San Mateo County Parks and Recreation Commission.

He also told of plans to install permanent horseshoe courses and additional playground equipment and said that although the pool is closed the grounds will be open to the public as long as the weather permits.

New School Site Proposals Meet Residential Protests

After a second "unanimous" meeting on the question of a location for the new Menlo Park elementary school, George Angus, chairman of the Menlo Park School Board, announced at Monday night's session that the board would deliberate and soon decide upon a site. In September the attending citizens at the board meeting were all for the Andrews property and all against the Prior property. At this October meeting there was an exactly opposite reaction,—unanimous opposition to the Andrews site and 100 per cent approval of the Prior property. In both cases the protests to the proposed locations came from residents adjacent to the properties who felt that a school would decrease the desirability of their homes.

The two sites under consideration are but a few blocks apart, both on Middlefield Road; Prior property at Middlefield and Encinal; Andrews property between Encinal and Watkins. The former was decided upon by the school board after a survey of the area had been made (at the board's request) by the Stanford University School of Education. This survey designated the corner of Middlefield and Encinal as being the exact center of the community to be served by a new school. Only after the many protests at the September meeting did the board consider the other site, which was as greatly opposed at this week's meeting.

Floyd Lowe, speaking first for the residents in the Andrews district, included in his protest the main objections to this choice, reasons which were later repeated by other residents of the community. Mr. Lowe described Felton Drive as a narrow street, not mean to be a thoroughfare, which could not safely take the traffic that would naturally use it as the shortest route to the school.

He also pointed out the fact that home owners in this subdivision had purchased home-sites there largely because of the peace and privacy of the district,—assets that would be destroyed with the erection of a school on the Andrews property, which property would have two entrances, a rear one at the end of Laurel Avenue as well as a front entrance on Middlefield.

Lowe also pointed out that the Prior property not only was a better location for a school from the point of centering the area, but that its two streets, Encinal and Middlefield, were already thoroughfares and therfore better suited for handling traffic at their intersection.

Attorney J. W. Ham, of San Francisco, represented the Andrews family in a protest against the use of any of the fourteen acres in their holdings which his clients had already planned to convert into a subdivision. He said that the property, being in Atherton, could not be subdivided into less than one-acre lots, arguing that the acreage remaining after the school property was taken, would be but nine acres and too small for the subdivision planned.

Fun With The Birds

"Fun With The Birds" is the title of a film to be shown tonight at the Presbyterian Church, at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of The Philathea Circle. A voluntary offering will be taken to defray the expense of the lecture and refreshments will be served at its conclusion.

Mrs. Laurel Reynolds, the photographer and lecturer who will entertain with her fascinating film and facts, is one of those lucky persons whose hobbies have turned into vocations,—"Lucky" because they are people who really love their work, since they started it as play.

Mrs. Reynold's husband loved all kinds of birds it seems, from bushtits to condors and he pursued them from Death Valley to Mt. Ranier, from slippery mud to slippery ice. On one occasion Mrs. Reynolds rashly decided to accompany her husband on a trip to "see nests of ducks" near Los Banos. She was given a helper's job of wading around looking for nests while holding a roll of films high in one hand. She stepped in a water hole, went under, and came up to start a new career. If the birds were so much fun for her husband she decided to find fun in them for herself.

That was eight years ago. Her growing enthusiasm has made her an authority on bird life and her reels of gorgeous kodachrome films are said to defy description,—nature photography at its best, presented with a delightful running commentary by the author.

United Nations Relief Report On Collection

A report on the results of the campaign for canned food and cash for use by the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration has been handed the Recorder by Frank S. Becker, chairman of the local committee collecting supplies for this relief.

Becker's statistics come from the Emergency Food Collection National Headquarters in New York City. 308,432 cases of food were collected (estimated value $1,334,510.00) most of which has been shipped to the needy. Due to the maritime strikes the remainder (packed) is waiting at ports for shipment.

Cash contributions amounted to more than three million dollars. Warehouse expense, packing, transportation, etc., are the only funds used out of the cash contributions since an administrative sum had been previously set up by UNRRA. The allocation of the money is being made to various countries for the purchase of food for children only.

Mr. Becker reports a total of 1800 pounds of food and $475.53 in cash as the amount contributed by residents of Menlo Park for this relief.

39 Veteran Stations Now Serve North Part of State

With the opening of 11 new Veterans Administration contact offices there are now 39 VA stations serving some 550,000 veterans in the northern part of the state, according to the Regional manager, Robert E. Shields. Each office will give personal assistance on the VA-administered benefits to which veterans are entitled, including education and on-the-job training, loan guarantees, insurance claims, compensation and pensions, and hospitalization.

Honorably discharged aliens who wish to take advantage of the opportunity to quickly obtain United States Citizen's papers should inquire at this office. The Second War Powers Act of 1942, providing for citizenship to members of the armed forces without their having lived in the country a specified time, without having to speak the English language or meet any educational tests, will expire on December 31 of this year.

Although the statue is administered by the Immigration and Naturalization Service of the Departfent of Justice, VA has publicized the law through all its channels, to advise eligible alien veterans of their naturalization rights. Recent reports indicate that approximately 100,000 servicemen and veterans have failed to take advantage of their privileges as provided under this act.

Plug For A New Post Office

Mail is delivered to our doors twice a day. Outgoing missives can be pushed through their proper slots at the post office any hour of the twenty-four. Seldom is one required to stand in line overly long for service at the Parcel Post, Money Order or Stamp windows. Then why not "let well enough alone"?

Answer—Menlo Park's Post Office has a serious case of Growing Pains,—with no possible space for expansion.

Behind its window-bars and rental-boxes the Menlo post office presents a picture of "orderly confusion" that can not be rectified until more space and better equipment are provided. Without improved facilities for handling our mail the service which we may now consider to be satisfactory must deteriorate.

The increasing population of Menlo Park and its environs is no dream. Three extentions were made to city delivery routes last month. Petitions for new rural services are continually being presented. The rapid growth of our town and country districts, looking to this post office for mail service, makes our postal problem one that can not be long postponed.

As soon as Federal buildings are again being erected a new Menlo Park post office should be on the priority list. Now is the time to start action in this matter. (San Carlos already has its new post office allotment).

A peep at the present post office set-up will help us to appraise the situation. There are about fourteen regular employees, with temporary ones ranging in number from two to six more each week. The constant force includes the postmaster, assistant postmaster, four regular and one substitute clerks, three regular and one substitute carriers, one rural carrier and two women who spend from 8 to 10 hours a day forwarding mail sent to Dibble Hospital

Distribution of mail begins at 5:45 a.m. The last dispatch of mail is at 7:45 p.m. There is a continual turn-over in employee personnel, a condition hardly likely to be lessened until working conditions at the crowded post office are improved.

Twenty-two miles now measure our rural delivery service. The mounted city deliveries, parcel post, special delivery and evening mail collections call for 90 miles car service per day, with 16 miles on Sundays. Four bicycles are used in distributing mail to districts adjacent to the post office, while foot carriers deliver to the business sections.

A request for a new rural mail route (or change in an old one) needs five signers (five families) to the mile. Answers to the 25 questions on these petitions bring out such data as the number of children in each family, average number of pieces of mail received by each family each day, condition of roads, presence or absence of gates, bridges, boxes, etc., and the exact distance (in miles and decimal miles) from each house to the post office. (Rural carriers are paid partly on mileage basis.)

With each detailed description of a new rural route there must be a map on which pencil tracings indicate the proposed route. Black pencil "dots" on the drawing indicate the location of new homes to be served and "crosses" show those (if any) that would be incommoded by the altered routing.

For some reason a request for extention of city delivery service requires answers to only 24 questions instead of the 25 placed on rural petitions. But as many of these questions have two, three and four parts to them the red tape involved is even longer. As with the rural requests the additional distances to be traveled must be ascertained (and accurately stated) by actually traveling over the territory concerned. And here again sketches with lines, dots and crosses must accompany each petition.

If these statistics, and theiir accmpanying art work, could be followed to Washington they would be found filed in the Fouth Assistant Division of Topography after that department has reproduced four copies of them to be returned to our post office.

All of this makes rather dull reading, and we fear it makes equally dull doing. All the more reason that we should acquaint ourselves with the limited facilities of our present post office and look ahead now toward acquiring property on which a larger federal building can be erected,—on ground that will permit additions when needed. Menlo Park is definitely on an expanding program and a new post office is a necessity in the city's progress.

New School - - Yes? No?

It seems very fortunate for the children of today and tomorrow that in these United States a parcel of land can be condemned when it is needed for educational purposes. Finding a building site for The Little Red School House must have been merely a matter of deciding on the most cetnral location for the area to be served. While the owners of such land were not adverse to receiving a good price for their property, a few of them did even donate the acreage required.

But if today the State of California did not empower the Menlo Park School Board to "take over" (at fair appraisal costs) the property it MUST have for the schools it MUST erect for the children it MUST teach, these children might have to trudge (or be driven) along roads leading up to our mountains or over to the Bay.

Citizens of Menlo Park seem to be of one mind in their desire to have the best possible education for our childrn. If one attends the school board's open meetings he must conclude that they are also of one mind in their desire to have the buildings erected on property not in the vicinity of their individual homes. Let us have a fine school,—but no school house near me!

The Menlo Park school board has been studying this problem of the location of its next school building for over a year. Board members thought they had found a satisfactory solution in their selection of the Prior property at Encinal and Middlefield. So many objections were raised to this intention by owners of adjacent property that the board reluctantly considered a second choice, the Andrews property, a short distance further north-west on Middlefield. A flood of objections to this site from resident owners in that vicinity now places the board in the unhappy situation of having to step on somebody's toes if we are to send our children to school.

It is unfair to judge owners of property near a proposed school site for their objections to the erection of public school buildings in the vicinity, without understanding their arguments. In this instance there are many families who purchased homes in these districts because the environs seemed to insure them the longed-for quiet and peace they desired, and which some of them thought they had earned. Schools at their front or back doors would change the character of this retreat, and naturally it is not easy to forfeit valued privacy. Our sympathies are with them, and with the few unselfish individuals who are willing to forego their own seclusion for the greatest good to the many.

It is not so easy to feel a distressing pity for "a fine old family" whose members "need" fourteen acres for their planned subdivision instead of nine, which is all that would be left them if five acres were sold for a school site. The cries of "not fair, not fair," made by their attorney, seem far less justified than the complaints of the Indians when we took over their land.

We believe our school board will reach its conclusions on the merits of the locations involved, deciding not only which will be the best for educational purposes, but which will bring the least disturbance to the surrounding territory. More power to the board in its judgement and fore sight, and more power to a land in which individual desires cannot kill our educational programs.

Friends of a popular local clergyman are chuckling over a remark he made when someone mentioned Fire Prevention Week. "Fire prevention is no novelty to me," he said, "Fire prevention is my business."

George Bernard Shaw, Ireland's gift to London's literary set, is confined to his home as the result of a fall in his garden. Fortunately his injury is not serious, though any illness at his age, sends reporters scurrying to the newspaper morgues for his obituary.

His latest quip was so typically Sharian that it bears repetition.

A London hostess wishing to lionize him at her party, sent Shaw a card—"Mrs. Cuthbert Hawsteth-Bottomly will be at home Friday from three to five o'clock."

Shaw scribbled on the bottom of her card, "George Bernard Shaw likewise" and sent it back to her.

Visiting at the home of a Menlo woman one night this week, I discovered how careful one has to be in conversing before children—little children.

The small son of the family is an unusually intelligent little fellow and he has the memory of an elephant.

It seems that somewhere he heard James Whitcomb Riley's poem, "Little Orphant Annie," a bit of verse that would not especially intrigue the average child, but this youngster is far above average.

The poem has gone deeply into his little brain and the only thought it has left with him is that "goblins get little boys when they go to bed at night." The child never mentions goblins during the day, but the minute he is tucked into bed, the same question comes, "will the goblins get me?"

His mother is battling this fear by using fairies, elves, pixies, Santa Claus—all the characters who people a child's world and one day, the boy will have his curiosity about goblins satisfied. Fortunately, in his case, it is more curiosity than actual fear.

I knew another case where children were frightened, deliberately this time. When they were naughty, their mother threatened to "give them to a policeman." They were mere babies and the sight of a policeman's uniform nearly put them into fits.

I had my first experience with this phobia on Market Street in San Francisco one day, when a police officer hove in sight and the two youngsters, clung to me like barnacles and their terrified shrieks could have been heard at the Ferry building.

Here was a mother deliberately making bugaboos of the very men whom her children should have been taught to trust.

"Little Orphant Annie" has nostalgic memories for me. In my grammar school days, I won a prize of $5.00 for reciting it at an entertainment at Central School.

The prize money was to be given to the various winners on the last day of school, but I didn't know that and I drove Timothy Hopkins (who was one of the school trustees) almost crazy, by calling at his house every night for my prize money. At last, to get rid of me, the harassed man gave me $5.00 out of his own pocket.

Letters

Editor;

Although I've been talking to all the organizations that invite me, this letter to you will undoubtedly reach more voters. One of the most important propositions on the November 5th ballot, to this district, is the Hospital Proposition; and so that everyone may intelligently vote 'YES,' I'd like to explain.

The proposition is that a hospital district shall be set up, to include most of the area served by Sequoia Union High School. In that area are 55,000 people,—yet there is no hospital except Community Hospital, which is essentially for those unable to pay. Of that population some may wish to go to San Francisco for hospitalization, some may be able to take advantage of Veteran's Hospital, others will be eligible for Community Hospital. Let's say, one half will be thus accomodated. Which still leaves 28,000 able and willing to pay for hospitalization right here at home. Doctors' say that normal needs are 3 beds per thousand population, which indicates definite need for a 75 to 100 bed hospital.

Now there are three ways we could have a hospital here. One would be privately owned. Does anyone know of a good Samaritan with plenty of money who would set up a hospital? If so, he'll be welcomed with open arms. A second method would be a beneficient hospital such as French Hospital in San Francisco. The main objection to this is its dependency on private subscription. We find it hard to raise $30,000 for Community Chest,—how long do you suppose it would take us to raise twenty times that amount, which would be necessary for a first rate hospital? The third method would be the municipal, area or district hospital. This is the set-up now under consideration.

The proposition on which you will vote November 5th is authorized by a State Senate bill passed June 1945. That bill directs that after 15 percent of the electors petition (that was done last spring, remember?), and the Board of Supervisors hold a hearing and approve (that was done this summer), the proposition is given to the voters. A simple majority is sufficient to pass it. After you vote 'YES,' the Board of Supervisors appoint five directors. These directors will serve until the next and following election, at which time you will select the ensueing directors. The bill (Senate bill 586) says that the duty of the directors shall be "to levy taxes or sell bonds to erect and equip a hospital."

So you see, voting YES at this time costs you nothing. All you are doing at this time is saying "Yes, we DO need a hospital in this area."

Yet because everyone is interested in finances, it might be well to show the two ways the money can be supplied. One method would be an assessment tax on real estate. On the average home that would amount to $6 or $8 a year. This is a small amount, isn't it, to have the assurance that when you need a hospital one would be available? At present there are an average of 30 patients a day from Sequoia District at the Palo Alto hospital. And they pay the full rate. Palo Alto residents get a $2.50 a day rebate, which we would get if we had a hospital of our own. The second method of financing is through a bond issue. Usually that is hard to pass, for it needs a two-thirds majority vote. Maybe in boom times like this, it would be easier. Who knows?

Yet, as I have written, we are not concerned with financing at this time. That is the job of the directors. Right now we need everyone possible to vote 'Yes' November 5th. Although I stated that a simple majority will pass the proposition, we should get a huge vote of approvial. The Federal Government will give (as an outright gift), one-third the cost of the hospital, IF they are sure we really want it. The only way of showing that we really want a hospital is to vote November 5th, and vote an overwhelming 'YES.'

MENLO MINIATURES

I am a hearty sleeper, having long ago adjusted myself to a city's disturbing night noises. Then why lie awake tonight, hearing so many sounds that I can't count sheep?

My alarm clock—I'll put a pillow on it. Crickets and cicadas—Can't muzzle them. A distant dog—His owner has no business to let him howl. Feet crunching on gravel—Why does anyone walk around at night? Taxi depositing two giggly girls next door—Why don't they get home at a decent hour? Cars whizzing up and down the highway—Where do all the people go after 2 a.m.? Whine of the Ice Co. air-fan—Certainly glad cools weather will stop that nuisance. Rooster crowing down the street—My land, can it be that near morning? Drone of a passing airplane. Rumble of S.P. trains, with their bells and whistles. What's the matter with this world anyway? Noise, noise, noise! It is shattering to the nerves. No one could sleep with all this racket. Insomnia can drive people crazy. At last it has its grip on me; I'm headed for a swift neurosis. "There ought to be a law—"

OH. So it is YOU keeping me awake! Ho-hum. I'm too tired to pull down the shade or to think up a law that would stop the moon from teasing sleepy eyelids. I'll just turn over.

BRIEFS... by Portia

ON THE UP AND UP

Last week Wallace gave the nation
A short pitch on "mild inflation,"
Guaranteeing it would be a
Reconversion panacea.
Now, don't be an eager beaver,
Victim of inflation fever;
Taken straight, or with a chaser,
Inflation's not the proper bracer,
It's "mild" as murder!—one small sup
Sends the cost of living up!

The above verse repeated from Briefs of JUST ONE YEAR AGO was a conditioned response caused from tuning in on some of the sour notes of the theme song "Try Mild Inflation" of Henry Wallace's advice to America in October, 1945.

Inflation doesn't come packaged in assorted sizes to be selected by the discriminating buyer to suit his current needs. If you go in for inflation, it must be in the KING-SIZE quantity with unpleasant, not to say tragic, results as is evidenced by even a quick gander at to-day's price indices.

A prune, that one-time inspiration of vaudevillian brand of corn, could not to-day be characterized as a "poor prune" by any ham actor (the only brand of ham on the market in these porkless days.) A pound of prunes which a year ago was tagged 17 cents, is currently marked with a 29 cent price tag. As for gilt edge butter, judging from the toll demanded, it doesn't need the Midas touch to bear 14 carat hallmark. There's lots of it, just $1.00 per pound, which is more than 100 per cent increase within a twelve month period. Who cares whether the chicken or the egg came first! At the present moment they are in a photo-finish in to-day's price race to reach new highs, right up there where oxygen masks are indicated for the cash customers. To-day's eggs don't rate deep freeze treatment, instead they are something to tuck away in the family vault with Aunt Millicent's matched pearls.

Fulsome ads, describe the selling points (well, curves, if you're the preceise one) of $89.00 foundations. (These have nothing to do with the concrete variety of under-pinnings for that $6500 house of a year ago, or maybe two, which cannot be builded to-day for $15,000.) The little $89.00 numbers are put together of wisps of satin, lace and lastex and are designed to give milady moral support as well as physical restraint, and in these times it isn't milady only who feels the need of either or both, with the prices of everything on the up and up.

This week Henry Wallace assumes his role of editor of the liberal periodical, "The New Republic," going into a new routine in order "to make friends and influence people." We're all for those great cornfields of Iowa from which Wallace hailed, but as for Henry's particular brand of corn, we wish he'd left it way back where! We're right in there cheering whenever cornstalks hit new altitudes, but with prices, it is something else again, and remembering Henry's 1945 inflation prescription as a cure-all for economic ills, we're glad that it is editorial and not a governmental policy that Henry is dreaming up to-day.

RATIOCINATIONS

LOUIS J. STELLMAN

Whatever one may think of the President's Monday evening talk, one has to admit that he took his bull by the horns—and permitted it to toss him with as good a grace and as stout a heart as might well be expected under the circumstances. He showed courage which one cannot but admire in flouting C.I.O. and its potent political Action Committee, as well as other Power Groups that have been lobbying long and almost viciously for controlled economy. In doing so he sacrificed, as well, his own convictions, for he believes, rightly or wrongly, that price controls are necessary to forestall inflation. I am convinced he is mistaken, but that does not matter. What does matter is that there are millions who think the same way; who believe that stabilized economy, now the war is over, can result alone from the free action of Supply and Demand.

It is undeniable that a group of selfish, wealthy men: the big cattle raisers, will benefit by decontrol of meat—and undeservedly; that they could have made a decent profit even under O.P.A. restrictions; that they conspired against Government and Popular Welfare for no other reason than to swell their bank accounts. And, what is worse, they won.

But, I believe their triumph will be Pyrrhic, for the temper of American buyers has been aroused. We have almost had our fill of profiteering. And we don't really have to eat meat. If it goes too high, I think that, for one reason or another, many of us won't. Butter at a dollar a pound is already growing rancid on the dealers' shelves. Eggs and poultry have attained the zenith of our tolerance in price demands. What we are approaching is not inflation but a show-down on how far we can be taken for a ride.

Truman blamed meat shortages directly on those Congressmen who voted to curtail the power of O.P.A. But it goes deeper than that. It is due to human greed and thoughtlessness; to the misuse of opportunities which, rightly utilized, could have averted many of our maladjustments. The President has been harrassed beyond all decent limits; disgusted by a wholesale disregard for public welfare; threatened, wheedled, pressured and misled past human bearing. He is entitled to a throw a brick at Congress who are we, who do it constantly, to censure him?

The Government has dragged our meat embroglio into the open, examined it with care and tried to solve it by a process of elimination. As between a quantity of ineffective solvents, it has settled for the least abhorrent.

What more could it do?

Your City's Business

CHARLES P. BURGESS

Giving point and practical effect to the assertions of city governments and the League of California Cities that the property tax base is outmoded, regressive in character, and does not reflect adequately changes in population and income, is the tax bill residents of this area will receive this year. For the property tax rate inside Menlo Park will be up 31.6 per cent in 1946-47, while the rate just outside our city limits will be up 39 per cent. Despite increasing wage levels and population, raising proportionately the costs of operating the city, our assessed valuation increased only 7 per cent this year, with half of the increase attributable to annexations. Property exempt from taxation rose from 4½ per cent to 7 per cent of the tax roll.

The increase in the tax rate inside the city is $1.51, or from $4.78 to $6.29. The major part of the increase is the 41 cent boost in the county rate and the 89 cent raise in the elementary school rate. The high school rate is down 4 cents, the county library rate is up 1 cent, junior college tuition is up 3 cents, mosquito abatement is down 1½ cents, the fire district is up 7½ cents, the lighting district is up 1 cent, the sanitary district is up 10 cents, and the city rate is up 4 cents. The city rate is again at its legal maximum of $1.00 and accounts for 15.9 cents of each dollar paid in property taxes by our city taxpayers as compared with 20.1 cents last year.

While our city tax rate is technically $1.00, there must be added to it when comparing our rate with those of other cities, the rates charged by the sanitary, fire and lighting districts, for in the normal city these services are under one head. This year the sum of these rates is $2.06½. Some day a much enlarged city limits will enable the city government to absorb these services with some attendant economies.

The increase in the elementary school rate is caused by the great crease in school attendance due to our rapidly growing population. The School Board is operating on a pay-as-you-go basis (as opposed to the issuance of bonds), and the substantial tax rate increase, which was authorized by the voters in an election last summer, was the only alternative to the creation of bonded indebtedness.

ABOUT PEOPLE

AUTUMN WHIRL

The brilliant leaves of the social calendar duplicate the scarlet leaves of autumn in a merry whirl. Last Tuesday Mrs. Arthur W. Brouillet hostessed a luncheon at the Menlo Circus Club. Places were set for thirty with many of the guests from the Islands.

NOW IT CAN BE TOLD

Invitations to a reception given by the Paul Bonnots last Sunday read, "To honor Rosemary Bonnot and Frank George Ford," but upon their arrival guests learned that the affair complimented Mr. and Mrs. Frank George Ford. The young couple whose engagement was announced last June with wedding plans set for December had made their altar trek on July 26 at Minden, Nevada. The young couple are making their home at South Sixth Street in San Jose.

Assisting Mrs. Bonnot last Sunday was Howard McCully. Presiding at the urns were Mrs. Burpee Jost (Leonore Ballinger) and Mrs. Selmer Fatre (June Sterling.)

To receive her guests Mrs. Bonnot chose a gown of dusty rose, patterned in navy blue and white. The new Mrs. Ford was frocked in shell pink crepe.

Rosemary, who graduated from San Jose State College this summer, has one sister Eugenia. Her maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Davis of Palo Alto.

Frank, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cottrell of Trenton, New Jersey, has one brother, Charles, the director of the Trenton Symphony orchestra. Frank attendel Drexler College before serving in the Army Air Corps as bombardier and instructor. He has been attending San Jose State College and plans to complete his architectural and engineering studies at Stanford University.

Among the out of town guests at the Bonnots' reception was Henri Bulliard of New Orleans, who has been their houseguest for the past fortnight.

SURPRISE PARTY

Those cars, with dimmed lights, lining the lane near the Louis Garat home on October 10, weren't a part of a secret migration of Athertonites, but carried the guests to the surprise party given by Mrs. Garat to celebrate the birthday of Mr. Garat. After a silent approach the guests serenaded with the traditional "Happy Birthday."

Last week end the Garats planed south to attend the Stanford-UCLA game in Los Angeles.

When you come to think of it, the friendly confidence people have in Greyhound service is rather an extraordinary thing.
Most experienced travelers have come to look on Greyhound as much more than just another bus line. They know it as a warm, very human, very American transportation service made up of many extra things that make a big difference to the fellow doing the traveling.
The fact is that people like Greyhound because Greyhound likes people. The very heart of Greyhound service is the cheerful, personal interest Greyhound folks take in their passengers.
Greyhound remembers always that its job is to carry people ... not mail, not freight, but people. That's why careful consideration for the welfare of every passenger is the basis of Greyhound policy.
Today, a mother and child, an elderly person, or people who have never traveled before can enter a Greyhound depot and be sure of getting safely, pleasantly to their destinations ... cheerfully cared for all the way by Greyhound.
To GREYHOUND you're a PERSON as well as a passenger.

AMERICAN FAMILY

The United States Census Bureau has come up with some interesting figures about the changes which have taken place in the American family during the first half of the 1940's. It has shrunken in average size from 3.75 members to 3.4. The Bureau thinks it will decline to 3.1 by 1980.

The number of American families has risen by about 2½ million to approximately 37½ million last year. War marriages were said to account for the increase. Women now head more than 20 per cent of the families and persons over 65 years of age head about 15 per cent of the families. Two-person families still lead all other combinations. They make up nearly 30 per cent of the total.

MOST EVERYTHING
has jumped up in price except GAS AND ELECTRICITY

The cost of food has jumped sky-high since the pre-war year of 1939 but the cost of preparing and cooking that food at home with gas or electricity has not gone up ...it's gone down. The costs of clothing and home furnishings have jumped 'way up, but the cost of gas and electricity to launder those clothes and clean your house is cheaper today than in 1939. In fact, most everything you bought for $1.00 in 1939 ... now costs you $1.35, $1.40 or more. But the average cost of GAS for home use has dropped 33 per cent and the average cost of ELECTRICITY in the home has gone down 16 per cent since 1939.

REUNION

Tomorrow is the date for the annual reunion of the alumnae of the Convents of the Sacred Heart with the Convent of the Sacred Heart in Menlo Park as the setting for the gala affair, which will open at eleven in the morning and continue until four in the afternoon.

ON STAGE

The younger generation is anticipating the series of plays to be presented by the Children's Theater Association at the Marine Memorial Theater in San Francisco. Among the localites planning theater parties are Mrs. Floyd Davison and her sons, Barry and Ricky, and Mrs. Wallace Ott and her daughter, Amarette, and son, Chuck, who will attend "Rumpelstiltskin" the first performance being given on October 26.

Mrs. Henry Kuechler, Jr. and Mrs. Maurice Oppenheimer of Atherton are active members of the association, planning the three dimensional entertainment for children of twelve and under.

PETALS FROM THE BRIDE'S BOUQUET

Fall days find the younger set continuing to make the round of the churches and not for architectural study but simply dashing from wedding to wedding. Last Tuesday morning at 10:30 the Church of Our Lady of the Wayside in Woodside, was the setting for the nuptial Mass and marriage of Patricia Louise Kingston, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Kingston of Woodside and San Francisco, to Major Robert Donald Taplett, USMC. The Reverend Father Richard Hodge, who flew down from Seattle, performed the ceremony, with the Reverend Father John Meehan, pastor of the Woodside Church, assisting on the Altar.

The Altar was banked with masses of snowy chrysantheumums from which rose white tapers. Bordering the center aisle were chrysantheumums and tapers fastened to the pews with great white satin bows.

The bride was particularly lovely in a gown of white brocaded satin, styled with sweetheart neckline, snug fitting sleeves, and a full skirt cascading into a full length train. Her finger length veil of tulle was held in place by a coronet of lily-of-th-valley and orange blossoms, which had been worn by her maternal grandmother. Pat carried a white brocaded prayerbook with shower of white butterfly orchids. Pat's only attendant was her sister, Mary, who was frocked in blue faille fashioned in period style with a short train. She wore a matching halo hat and her bouquet was of talisman roses.

Lt. Bob Ash, USMC was the best man. Seating the guests were Lieutenants Harold White and John Seminoff, brother marines of the bridegroom, who is the commanding officer of Marines at Treasure Island.

Following the ceremony at the Church there was a wedding breakfast at the Kingstons' Woodside home. Guests were received in the living room which was decorated with garlands of white stock and gladioli. The terraced garden was brilliant with the varicolored blooms of begonias.

Receiving her guests Mrs. Kingston wore a gown of beige lace and crepe with matching hat of velvet and satin. Following their wedding trip the young couple will be at home after November 1 at 800 Bush Street, San Francisco.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Officers for this year's Sequoia Student Council have been chosen. Three meetings of this governing body have been held with Doris Dean as advisor.

Those elected to positions in the Council are John Ward, speaker; Medora Mervy, secretary-treasurer; Jerry Jorgensen, parliamentarian; and Jack Wilkerson, sergeant-at-arms. Bill Beegar, Commissioner of Administrative Activities, is chairman.

The council plays a major role in student government, being related to the Commissioners much the same as the legislative branch is to the executive.

Many activities, such as Campus Day, Orientation Day, commissioner elections, and the Council Dance, are sponsored by the Council in addition to its legislative duties.

NIGHT SCHOOL

An 80 per cent increase over last year's night school enrollment at Sequoia has been reported by Mr. S. S. Mayo, principal of the evening school. Total enrollment to date is 950, which is 525 more than last year.

Classes are held from 7:30 until 9:30 four nights a week. Among the subjects being taught this year are Spanish, English, U.S. History, Woodshop, and commercial course. Physical education classes are also again in session this year, with badminton, volleyball, and basketball being taught nightly in the boys' gym.

A class in elementary choral, designed for beginners in musical sight reading and as a refresher course, has been added to the curriculum.

Asters shine in color not in fire,
They seize the tints of Heaven as they fall;
Violet from the sky,
Rose from the sunset,
White from Billowy fog,—
Stars radiating beauty on a stem.

REDUCE SPEED

Motorists are warned by the Public Safety Department of National Automobile Club to reduce their summer month speed during the rainy season ahead. Slippery pavements, particularly during the first rains, cause dangerous skidding when brakes are applied at high speeds.
